

Angie and Simon Briggs - FeetDoTravel

Feet Do Travel isn't just a travel website, blog and social platform but a community of wanderlust travellers wishing to share their knowledge and stories with other like-minded individuals. This was always our vision. When we write, we don't just want to give facts about a place, we want to tell the story of what it feels like to be there in order to take our audience on a journey. Our mission is to encourage others to visit new countries and be inspired to try new things.

We run a fun, friendly and interactive travel community that is proving to be very successful. The community are loyal and supportive which means we have access to a wealth of extensive travel experience should we need advice. Non-bloggers pick up tips on new travel destinations from the stories they read in our 900+ member Facebook group – after all, blogging is for all travel-minded people to enjoy! On a personal note, arranging our wedding at the Ice Hotel in Lappland and renewal of wedding vows in Jamaica was extremely rewarding. No trip is too outlandish or out of the ordinary for us!

FeetDoTravel Testimonials

Angie and Feet Do Travel bursts with knowledge and enthusiasm, sharing intriguing destinations through personal stories and wonderful photos

David Johnston (Travelswhere)

FeetDoTravel are incredibly knowledgeable and passionate about world travel. They created a great place for people to discuss responsible travel, share travel experiences, ask a variety of questions, and more. My husband and I have never felt so welcome in a community before—we're sincerely thankful for all the time and joy Angie has put into making travel exciting and achievable. Anna Sofia (Two Nerds Travel)

Angie is one of the most organised, go-getting people I know. She researches thoroughly, listens and understands your needs and isn't shy about adding her own ideas into the mix. She leaves no stone unturned and I don't think there's anything she can't do!

Debbie Yearsley-Davidson (FP Advance)

Angie is a very conscientious person. She is thoughtful, sincere, fun and a hard-working person who is willing to go the extra mile to help others. Angie listens & understands your travel needs, researches and comes up with some great travel ideas. I would use her for my travel needs! Stephanie Griggs

(1AdventureTraveler)

Angie is a go getter with a great love of travel and plenty travel experience. She likes to continually improve her knowledge of how to make the most of your holidays. She is also a great researcher for travel. Her dynamic personality would be a good fit for any company. Lisa Stanton (Simple Sojourner)
